MEAT PRICES SHOOT UP AS U. S. COMPLETES SECOND PHASE OF TREMENDOUS BUYING PROGRAM

Millions of Sheep and Goats to Disappear Next as The Government Continues Reduction of Livestock

By THOMAS N. SANDIFER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(INS)—“Pork prices have been rising up to smite the consumer's pocketbook. In four months' time, a pound of pork chops has jumped 35 per cent.”
“The average level of retail food prices went up 9 per cent from April 24, when the present increase started. Meat prices rose the most—19 per cent; dairy products increased 6 per cent; cereal products went up 4 per cent; and prices of other foods 7 per cent.”
This is the news relayed to the nation's bread-winners by Consumer's Guide, issued by the consumers' counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, which this week had removed 7,500,000 head of cattle from the nation's beef and dairy herds, and from the potential supply of the nation's beefsteaks and milk, in the largest purchasing program of peace times.

In a slaughter program that glutted the plants of the greatest meat-packing center of the world, the Administration has attempted to solve what it contends is a surplus problem.

The immense slaughter has given meat packing workers more employment than any period since war days, and more than a billion cans of meat, in various forms, have been placed in reserve.

The reserve is only for the unemployed, however, and does not replace the void on the beefsteak counters where the public this winter must pay the highest prices in years as a result.

At a cost of $103,000,000 the Government purchased cattle from drought areas, and from surplus dairy herds, removing them permanently from the nation's potential beef and dairy supplies.

A part of these surplus herds have been held back from the packing plants, and are being grazed on southern farms for a part of the winter. Others are to be allotted to subsistence homesteads, where the farm families do not possess milch cows.

Strict regulations will prevent any of these cattle or dairy products from ever entering commerce again. While this program is being concluded, the government is turning its attention to the sheep and goats figured to constitute a surplus.

Millions of these animals, too, soon will join the vanishing herds of cattle. Most of the animals, where fit for human use, will be converted to canned meat. The others, if not killed outright, will be farmed out, as was done with cattle.

Millions of hides accruing from this vast packing plant activity by the Government are being held in storage for government account. They will be held off the market, after a protest by leather dealers and manufacturers, but may be used in Government workrooms for shoes for unemployed.

James Waters Dies As Result of Heart Attack

James Waters, son of the late Catherine Gleason, died at his home on Buckley street, this morning. Death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Waters was well known in Bristol where he had lived all his life. He had been ill for the past month.

Mr. Waters was a member of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion.

The survivors are his wife, and one son, Robert; three sisters and two brothers.

WOMAN, 103, TO VOTE

Sambury, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Rachel Wynn Trowbridge paused in the celebration of her 103rd birthday today to announce she expects to vote the straight Republican ticket in the election next Tuesday. Despite her advanced years, she attended a United Brethren Sunday School rally at Milton last Sunday.

CABINET'S NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Paris, France, Nov. 3.—Hovering on the brink of collapse, the French cabinet was given an uncertain new lease on life today when the majority of the cabinet voted on Premier Gaston Doumergue's Constitution Reform program. Radical socialist members under the leadership of former Premier, Leonid Herriot withheld their stand on the reform scheme.

STABBED BY GHOST

CALCUTTA — (INS) — A fisherman is in the hospital with a serious wound which he says was inflicted by a ghost. His wife and sister-in-law died a year ago and since then, he says, he has seen their phantoms flitting about the house. They have even spoken to him. One night the ghost of his sister-in-law appeared, blew out the light, and then stabbed him in the neck. He is not expected to live.

TONSILS OUT

Ellsworth Zimmerman, Jr., had his tonsils removed at Harriman Hospital this morning.

COMMUNICATION

Bristol, Pa., Nov. 2, 1934.
Editor Courier:

A wise man avoids changing horses while crossing a stream. This is particularly true if the horse you have has proved steady and dependable.

The campaign is about over, and now we have a breathing space in which to take stock of what the various candidates have to offer in exchange for our support. It is for us to decide and our decision is final. We sit as a jury.

On the Democratic side we have a ticket composed of candidates for the most part unknown, and hand-picked by that dispenser of patronage, Postmaster-General Farley, ably aided and abetted by Joseph Guffey, who by the way, has reserved to himself, the head of the ticket. Mr. Guffey believes that charity begins at home.

On the Republican side we have a ticket composed of men who, by the process of elimination, have emerged victorious in a keenly contested primary election.

The Democratic voter was allowed no choice for the major offices in the primary. The candidates were designated by Farley and Guffey and that was that. There was no contest or chance for a free expression of the Democratic voter's preferences. The designators could not afford to risk it.

The Republican voter had his chance to pick one of several candidates, and by no stretch of the imagination can it be said that the candidates ultimately chosen, were not the free and honest choice of the majority.

The Democrats have put before the voter a group of men seeking the highest and most responsible offices in the State, and say to us that these men are so good that they do not need the background of experience or training of any kind for the job ahead of them, because they are so honest, so able, that just to elect them will bring this State to a condition bordering on, if not actually surpassing, that Utopian blessedness we sometimes hear about, but alas, never see.

The Democratic candidate for Governor is a young man with a lot of money and a discharge from the United States Army for overseas service. A lot of us are honored by the latter distinction, but few of us are blessed with the former. Mr. Earle was a Republican until he fell into bad company. There is nothing to be said one way or the other for his record as a public servant. He thinks he might make a good Governor.

Mr. Guffey, who has appointed himself candidate for United States Senator, has held two quasi-public offices, political appointments, about at least one of which the least said the better, for reasons Mr. Guffey himself will no doubt be duly appreciative. So much for his service record.

Mr. Guffey's chief claim to distinction he announces himself (always modest) to wit, that he was the "original Roosevelt man" in Pennsylvania, and that it was he who swung the Pennsylvania delegation to the President at the convention in Chicago. That he had influence in swinging the delegation at the convention is admitted. That he was the "original" Roosevelt man in the State is open to question, but the man is modest if nothing else. Now that is about all you can say for the gentleman's qualifications to make him a good Senator.

It is painfully true that if he had should overtake either Mr. Guffey or Mr. Earle, and they should have their worldly goods taken from them suddenly, both of these gentlemen would be hard put to it to earn an honest living.

Like all great men, President Roosevelt has a private sorrow, one that threatens to become tragic and mar his political career, and that stalking ghost is the Postmaster-General and his man Friday, Mr. Joseph Guffey.

The Democratic campaign in this State is predicated on the false claim that President Roosevelt has endorsed the Democratic State candidates and that we must vote for the President or against him. Nothing is further from the truth. The President has emphatically not endorsed anyone in this State campaign, not even Farley. It is the first time in my memory that an attempt has been made to put the President of the United States on the spot by members of his own party. Somebody must be getting desperate.

David A. Reed, United States Senator, needs no introduction. The Senator is an able lawyer who has made a name for himself in private practice. He has a brilliant war record, seeing actual service at the front. He has served two terms in the Senate and he is acknowledged, even by those opposing in that body, to possess one of its keenest minds. Senator Reed is a member of most of the important committees in the Senate and in the next Congress will be an outstanding figure in determining important legislation.

Attorney-General Schnader has a long and brilliant record as a lawyer in private practice and as a public servant. As Attorney-General he has formulated and whipped into legal shape, many laws by which the people of Pennsylvania have benefited and will continue to benefit, for years to come. Mr. Schnader, like a good mechanic, learned his business from the bottom up, quite the reverse of the ambitious Mr. Earle, who seeks to start at the top, and work to the bottom.

What Bucks County Farmers Are Thinking (By Special Correspondent)

As the campaign progresses, the air is filled with verbal brickbats, both printed and oral. Since farmers are not given to writing editorials or mounting soap boxes to air their views, a correspondent from The Courier interviewed a number of farmers to learn just what they are thinking about on the many pressing questions just before Election.

The farmer was asked:
“Has the AAA benefited you?”
“How much are you benefiting by the rise in food prices?”
“Do the processing taxes effect you?”
“Do you believe farmers would benefit by a change in the state administration?”
“Is Bucks county being managed to your satisfaction? If not, what do you propose?”
“Are the farmers satisfied with the Milk Control Board?”

ARTICLE SIX

The inquiries which the Courier's Special Correspondent has just completed concerning the reaction of Bucks County farmers to the efforts of the federal administration has been making to relieve the depression in agriculture have uncovered nothing but disappointment and opposition among them. If one wants to consider it in the light of a pre-election forecast, the correspondent feels that ninety per cent of the farmers will vote as they usually have done, and without reference to the A.A.A. and N.R.A. activities.

As a matter of fact, practically every one visited expressed the belief that the various movements, rulings and activities have only placed additional burdens upon Pennsylvania farmers. They have acknowledged that possibly southern and mid-western farmers have been benefitted, because it is those big producers of grain, meat and cotton that have received direct help to the tune of millions of dollars. But to the extent that their prices have been advanced, that advance is added to the cost of feed and other necessities which eastern farmers must buy. Pennsylvania farmers as a whole buy more grain in the shape of feed than they raise, hence high grain prices mean high feed prices.

Another cause of complaint about present conditions is the effect the government's activities have had in raising the cost of farm labor while farm prices here have remained below cost of production. Farmers favor good and adequate labor wages, knowing that as the laborer's ability to buy that furnishes the market for farm products. But they also know that there must be a fair basis of equality between farm prices and labor costs, something that has not existed for a good many years.

Because most Bucks County farmers have use for wheat straw in the conduct of their dairies, and since wheat is a natural part of a four-year rotation, they did not fall in with the wheat reduction plan to any great extent. Only about 80 farmers in the entire County signed up to reduce their wheat acreage.

They are almost 100 per cent opposed to the hog-corn reduction plan and the processing tax idea. The farmers who have a few hogs to sell find the price paid to them is about $2.25 per cwt. less than the quoted prices because the butcher must pay that amount as a processing tax.

Another cause of concern is the immense debt that is being piled upon the people of the United States. They know that in the last analyses it is a mortgage upon real estate. They do not accept the argument made that it is only the rich or well-to-do who pay the federal taxes. While the latter may pay it in the beginning, they know that in the end it is the farmers and the laboring people who pay it.

Bucks County farmers are owing debts of their own

VICTORY IS CERTAIN, SAY G. O. P. NOMINEES

Vast Throng Cheers Reed and Schnader at Big Rally

CAMPAIGN CLIMAX LOST $10,000 YEARLY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—The campaign in Philadelphia reached a climax last night when U. S. Senator David A. Reed, candidate for re-election, and Attorney General William A. Schnader, nominee for Governor, brought to their feet in a frenzy of enthusiasm an audience of Republicans that filled the Metropolitan Opera House from floor to ceiling.

“They can give my friends, but they can't take it,” declared Schnader in the peroration of a fiery address.

“But they're going to take it next Tuesday,” he shouted with his fists in the air, while the 6000 Republicans yelled their approval.

“They'll take it in Philadelphia by at least 100,000 majority,” concluded the candidate for Governor to the tune of frenzied shrieks from excited Republicans.

Both Reed and Schnader, in unmistakable terms, declared for freedom of the press, of speech and for religious liberty.

The audience, which represented every one of the 50 wards of the city, was admitted by ticket to the Metropolitan. The first floor was crowded, the boxes were all filled, all the galleries were packed almost to suffocation. Every person in the audience carried a small American flag. The flags were waved in unison by the big crowd as the speakers drove home their most telling points.

Besides Reed and Schnader, the speakers were President Judge Frank M. Trexler, candidate for re-election to the Superior Court on which he has

ASK PROTECTION FOR JAPANESE

London, England, Nov. 3.—Japan through Ambassador Hirose Saito has requested the State Department to take measures to protect lives and property of Japanese citizens in Arizona, states a Reuter dispatch from Tokyo today. Ambassador Saito, the dispatch stated, had advised the Japanese foreign office that he had called on Acting Secretary of State William Phillips, Wednesday, and presented a report on the bombing of Japanese farm houses in the Hope River Valley of Arizona, Monday. Phillips, states Reuter, expressed regret and promised immediately to notify the Governor of Arizona to safeguard the interests of Japan.

GERMANY MAY RE-ENTER LEAGUE

Geneva, Nov. 3.—Germany plans immediately after the Saar Plebiscite on January 13th to announce publicly she no longer considers herself bound by part 5 of the Versailles Treaty—the clause that limits Germany's armaments—it was learned today from one of the highest ranking League of Nations authorities. Simultaneously, it was hinted Germany will announce her return to the League. Germany, it was stated, takes the view that by her declaration of freedom from the restrictions of the Peace Treaty, she will have thus received full equality of rights and will then be in a position to withdraw her notice of resignation from the League.

INVESTIGATE DILLINGER ESCAPE

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 3.—Federal Department of Justice investigators today took over the task of solving the bizarre plot by which John Dillinger, desperado extraordinary, escaped from the Crown Point, Ind., jail, with a wooden pistol. Search was begun for Dillinger's alleged accomplices in the daring break that loosed the desperado on a new orgy of reckless banditry.

HELD IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Audubon, N. J., Nov. 3.—Ralph Barkley, Gibbsboro, was held in $1000 bail today on a technical charge of manslaughter, following the death of Mrs. Minnie Stannard, 61, Audubon, who was struck by Barkley's automobile on the White Horse Pike. Mrs. Stannard was the mother of Joseph R. Stannard, former member of Camden County's Board of Freeholders.

To The Bucks County Voters

Our local ticket we must not forget, Sen. Buckman and Wilson Yeakle are not through yet.

To these two men we point with pride because, in these closets no skeletons hide; In years gone by they have served us well.

For these old timers “we'll work like hell.”

Tom Stockham in the assembly will make good or bust.

He is sincere and honest, a man we can trust; As a mayor and a Scouter he could not be beat.

To have a candidate like him is surely a treat.

Even our Democrat friends will admit, When it comes to good speeches, Ted Gardner has it;

In him the Republicans sure have a find, and At Washington we should have more of his kind;

Let's send him to Congress the first of the year, Then old Bucks and Lehigh have nothing to fear.

Next Tuesday is election day, now get out and vote, Make that Democrat donkey look like a goat!

Regardless of religion, color or sex, In the Republican block put a great big X.

CANDIDATES OF REPUBLICANS SPEAK AT MORRISVILLE

Four Hundred Gather at The Community House To Hear Speakers

CURTAIN IS CHAIRMAN

Gardner, Candidate for U. S. House of Representatives, Speaks

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 3.—Four hundred people attended the Republican rally held last evening in the Community house, here and presided over by Borough Solicitor, Willard S. Curtain, chairman of the meeting.

The first speaker introduced by the chairman was Wilson L. Yeakle, candidate for General Assembly. He urged the people of Bucks County to support him for his record in the legislature.

Senator Clarence J. Buckman next addressed the gathering stating: “After 26 years of service I feel justified in coming before you to tell you what I have done. I have no quarrel with old line Democrats; I do have quarrel with the Democratic party today in Pennsylvania.”

“The Democratic administration has begun to take away from us the many blessings granted by the Constitution. The people of Pennsylvania want to abide by our Constitution. The President of the United States has usurped the power to determine the policy of the protective tariff and free trade.

“The Democrats have been in power 18 months and during that time have placed a debt of $10,000,000 on the taxpayers of Bucks County, which is, in effect, a mortgage amounting to 14 per cent on every home in the county. The only way to protest against this sort of thing is to send men like Senator Reed and Theodore Gardner to Washington.

“I know some of your local problems. When I went into office every bridge was a toll bridge. I had two objectives, first, to get rid of toll bridges and to secure better roads, and second, to eliminate every toll bridge between Bucks County and New Jersey. These things have been accomplished. These are the kind of accomplishments the Republican party has fostered in Harrisburg. Bucks County is the third county in the state in highway mileage and yet is a sixth class county.”

Senator Buckman branded the rumor as false that he would retire after the next session of the legislature on a $5000 a year pension. He also branded as false the story that he was getting rich out of the building of the new super highway. He said he donated his property in Langhorne of the county and did not make a nickel out of this highway.

County Solicitor Mark Thatcher was next presented and he outlined what Senator David A. Reed had done for the veterans of Pennsylvania. He said Senator Reed drafted the original disabled veterans compensation bill in Congress. He stated the present administration had cut down disabled veterans' payments 20 per cent and that Senator Reed had fought for and secured the restoration of many of these cuts. He urged the veterans of Morrisville and Bucks County to support Senator Reed for what he had done for the ex-service men.

The chairman then introduced James Groom, president of the Bucks County Firemen's Association, who compared the Republican and Democratic platforms of Pennsylvania and told the people to shop around and finally decide by such a comparison. He lauded Mayor Thomas B. Stockham for his work among the firemen of the county.

Theodore R. Gardner, candidate for Congress, was the next speaker and told the gathering he would give them a straight-forward opinion of his stand toward the Federal administration. He stated he would support legislation advantageous to Bucks and Lehigh Counties no matter what party or group sponsored it. He made comparisons as to the amount paid by Pennsylvania in taxes to the Federal government and the amount returned to Pennsylvania by the Federal government. He deplored the processing tax and its effect upon Pennsylvania farmers.

Joseph C. Ferguson, investment banker of Philadelphia was next introduced to the gathering and spoke in part, as follows:

“I speak to you as a life-long Pennsylvanian. As never before in her history, Pennsylvania has been challenged to preserve her integrity as a Commonwealth. The challenge comes from sources that would bleed Pennsylvania's industries white; that would take by taxation, the hard-won earnings of this Commonwealth and send them, for political ends, to backward communities in the south and west. That would regiment industry, destroy individual initiative, paperize thousands, render worthless lifelong savings, and destroy the spirit which has made Pennsylvania self-sustaining and self-respecting.

“This is the challenge of planned

ST. ANN'S TO PLAY GAME FOR HOSPITAL BENEFIT

By T. M. Jano

Members of the St. Ann's Athletic Association are hoping for a good break from Old Man Weather. The reason for this is that they want to see a capacity crowd on the local field tomorrow afternoon when the St. Ann's football team meets the Wissahickon Eagles in a benefit game for the Harriman Hospital.

Previous attempts to play benefit games for the local institution have met with failures because of the weather. In 1932, the St. Ann's team played the Frankford Trinagles in a benefit game, but the weather was so cold that the team hardly made enough for expenses so that they did not turn in any funds to the hospital. Last season's game with the St. Matthews C. C. was called off because of inclement weather conditions. So now the boys are hoping that the weather will justify a good day and a good game.

The St. Ann's organization has arranged the benefit game to show their appreciation to the Harriman Hospital for the service they render to the players of the borough of Bristol who receive free first aid treatments when injured while participating in an athletic contest.

The St. Ann's gladiators will be after their fifth straight win when they tackle the Eagles. Coach Seneca during the practices held this week warned the boys of the forthcoming match and showed the team the different formations used by the Wissahickon gridsters.

Wissahickon has never played a St. Ann's team although they knew that the Bristolians were angling for the match for several weeks. It was early last week that they came to an agreement on the guarantee and they immediately went to work for this contest. They are well prepared for the game, having questioned other St. Ann's opponents of the attack used by the local eleven. Last Sunday, the Eagles met with their first reverse of the season when they were beaten by Glenside A. A. 13-0.

St. Ann's A. A. looked its best last week when they trimmed Lambertville, 12-6. The Jerseyites had come here well-fortified for the contest and had scouted the locals for several weeks but this made little difference to the resident players who came from behind to snare the victory. Incidentally, the strain of not having a team score a touchdown upon them for the past two seasons was broken when Lambertville scored a touchdown in the first quarter.

The Saints are back to normal with their players. "Boops" Nichols and "Tink" Spadaccio, linemen, have fully recovered from their injuries and are back with the squad while the backfield has been strengthened by the return of Ray Pico, quarterback, and Teddy Tosti, halfback. Tony DiBlassio and Tommy Barrett are still nursing injuries. Barrett may see action in the contest but DiBlassio is lost for the remainder of the season.

"Bud" Tunis and "Pete" Court looked especially good in last week's contest as did "Jim" Blanche, the new lineman. Court has finally struck his stride and with the aid of his other cohorts was breaking up Lambertville plays continually last week.

Three members of Temple University football team will be the guests of the St. Ann's team during the day. They are: Joe Zanol, George Paul and Johnny Zukas. They will occupy the St. Ann's bench during the sixty minutes of milling.

Manager Angelo Nicols has booked the Rockie A. A. team for the game next Sunday. This team defeated the Purple and Gold in the first contest of this season, 24-0, and is the only team to beat the Saints in two seasons. The St. Ann's team will play at Sellersville on Thanksgiving Day.

There will be a general admission in tomorrow's contest and the fans are asked to support the contest as the receipts are being used for a worthy cause. The opening kick off will take place at two-fifty o'clock sharp. Last week's contest, was scheduled on three o'clock in error but the management states that this error will start on time.

'BUNNIES' ELEVEN TV PLAY LANGHORNE, TODAY

By Jack Orr

(B. H. S. Press Release) Sponsoring a three game winning streak the Bristol "Bunnies" today are hosts to the Langhorne "Farmers," a team that has been the victim of bad breaks all season.

The Langhorne eleven under Coach Howard Beck expects to upset the Bristol club who are now traveling at a fast clip.

The visitors today have one victory, one tie, and two defeats but that fails to convey the story. One of these losses was by the 4-7 count and these boys held the strong Lambertville club to a 6-0 deadlock.

As everyone knows, comparative scores are decidedly unreliable, but the Langhorne-Upper Moreland-Bristol series seems to give the Cardinal and Gray gridders a decided edge.

Bristol has amassed a total of twelve points per game to their opponents two, while the protégés of Coach Beck have only four tallies to their rivals' nine.

Langhorne has high hopes for their gridders and will be out backing their team to the utmost.

It seems that the boys of Langhorne

High point to their annual game with Bristol. A win over the Cardinal and Gray would immediately wipe out those defeats already taken and bring the players back in the good graces of their supporters.

Kick-off 2:15.

TROJANS TO PLAY STANLEY A. C. TEAM

EDDINGTON, Nov. 3.—Tomorrow the Eddington Trojans will battle the Stanley A. C. on the home field, Street Road and Bristol Pike. This will be the seventh game played by the local club and they have yet to taste the bitter dregs of defeat. Thus far, an opponent has crossed the homester's goal line but once and then only because of a blocked kick. This record speaks well for the defensive strength of the Blue and Gold team, and as long as their offensive attack can produce that deciding touchdown, their record may be expected to remain clean.

The brand of football being played on the Eddington field has weekly attracted more and more fans to the games. Although the financial support thus far this season has not come up to expectations, the Trojan management has continued to book first rate opponents in an effort to give the spectators the best brand of play possible. This week will be no exception and the Stanley club is expected to draw well. When the two teams square off at 2:30 sharp Sunday afternoon, the Trojans will take the field with the determination to keep their record clean, and the visitors with purpose of marring it.

Two practice sessions were called for this week. In this way it is the desire of the coach and management to clear up the faults prevalent last week and tune up the offense of the play.

Although several of the Trojan players were injured in last week's fray, namely Bob McCurry, Norm Hughes and Chickie Kutzer, it is expected to draw well. When the two teams square off at 2:30 sharp Sunday afternoon, the Trojans will take the field with the determination to keep their record clean, and the visitors with purpose of marring it.

served for many years; Robert Dechert, chairman of the Citizens' Republican Committee; Charles H. Grakewell, who was Director of Welfare under the administration of W. Freeland Kendrick; John Marquess, exalted ruler of the Quaker City Elks; John Alessandrini, chairman of the Italian-American City Committee; Mrs. Worthington Scanton, member of the Republican National Committee; Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, former vice chairman of the State Committee; Clare G. Fenery, nominee for Congress in the 3rd district; Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. Carroll and Assistant District Attorney Abraham Berkowitz.

Edwin R. Cox, president of City Council and chairman of the Republican City Committee, presided. Virtually every one of the 50 Republican ward leaders was present. Among them were James M. Hazlett, former City Chairman, and Sheriff Richard Weglein.

The platform was filled with State, city and county dignitaries, Senators, Congressmen, State Representatives, City Councilmen and municipal and county officials of lesser importance.

Mrs. William A. Schnader, wife of the nominee for Governor, occupied a seat in a box near the stage.

"Swing along Republicans," shouted John Marquess, who is one of the leading Negro orators in America.

The "Swing along Republicans," elicited the first cheer. The second shout of approval was occasioned by the appearance on the platform of Senator Reed. Another yell shattered the air when former Mayor Harry A. Mackey took a seat beside the senior Senator and shook his hand.

The incident apparently was taken by the crowd as an omen of harmony and partisan amity.

"The victory the Republicans are going to win next Tuesday is going to mean something to the Nation," declared Dechert, the Independent Republican leader.

Assistant District Attorney Berkowitz read a statement signed by prominent Jews showing that Schnader always has been fair to the Jewish people.

Berkowitz also read a letter showing that reports that Reed had anti-Semitic leanings were unfair and false.

Candidates of Republicans Speak at Morrisville

economy under the New Deal. It is not a New Deal as you well know.

"Pennsylvania will answer this challenge on next Tuesday by an overwhelming majority for the Republican candidates. We do not want this New Deal; we never voted for it; we never asked for it. It was foisted on the American public under stress of emergency and now its sponsors, for their own selfish motives, are attempting to make permanent the program which will rob us of our property and rights as free citizens.

"Let us enthusiastically enter this fight and by our votes register our solemn protest against the New Deal and all its workings."

The next speaker, Thomas B. Stockham, candidate for General Assembly, outlined what he had done for the borough of Morrisville in the way of civic improvements and efficient management of municipal government. He said Morrisville borough had not borrowed during the past year and had been running on a budget that had been reduced $19,000. He said Morrisville would come out with a balanced budget. He told his fellow townsmen he would serve Bucks County in the same manner that he has tried to serve Morrisville.

Vocal and instrumental selections were rendered during the course of the meeting and included a baritone solo by Lester S. Bingley; selections by the "Two Cassinax," accordianists; vocal solo by Fred W. McGowan, and selections by the Morrisville High School orchestra under the direction of Henry Filler.

The balance of the Republican ticket is made up of men of experience in public life, for the most part holding office now. They also know where they are going and what to do when they get there.

It is always a sign of good judgment to cast your vote in support of the party and its candidates that has served you best; to vote for the men who have a background of experience and performance in their past record of service, not by a vague promise from some stranger who "thinks" he can make the grade.

Don't be misled by claims that Democratic candidates are friendly to labor. One of their candidates is a la-
